Make Room for Poetry ~ Target Audience-All Educators

Teachers will learn methods for engaging their students in the reading and writing of poetry. This institute will be co-facilitated by a Geraldine Dodge poet. The first half of the class will focus on engaging the poetry of various poets and imaginative writing. The second half will focus on the personal writing brought in by members of the group. Teachers will receive ideas to help motivate students to enjoy writing poetry.

Implementing Guided Reading ~ Target Audience-K-8 Educators

Tired of listening to word by word reading? Are you unsure of what to tell your students when they don't know a word? This guided reading institute will focus on how to help your students develop reading strategies and read with fluency and comprehension.

Yes, Grammar Should Be Taught ~ Target Audience: 3-8 Educators

Looking for purposeful ways to teach the conventions of writing without skill and drill worksheets? Then, this is the institute for you. The sessions will focus on meaningful approaches to teaching grammar and punctuation in the context of student writing. Participants will develop authentic writing activities to bring back to their classrooms. They will create a toolbox of strategies and lessons for teaching students to use the fundamentals of writing to effectively communicate their ideas.

Teaching Writing in the Content Areas! ~ Target Audience: ? Educators

Writing should be an integral part of teaching all subjects. Learn how you can use writing to help your students better understand the content that you teach. This workshop will help you to use writing to promote and assess learning in the content areas. Participants will explore learning activities that they can use to help students deepen understanding.

Enhancing Writing with Computer Animation

Target Audience-Middle & High Educators

Do you want to engage your students in the writing process? Do you want to excite your reluctant writers? Learn to use computer animation and video game creation to teach the writing process, build a love of writing, and engage every learner through the use of Scratch. This three day workshop will provide you with the tools and research to bring computer animation into your classroom. Only a basic knowledge of computer use is necessary.

Teachers as Writers and Writers as Teachers ~ Target Audience-All Educators

When teachers write, they can better teach writing based on the knowledge they gain by writing themselves. This institute is designed to take you through the writing process so you can then use the same techniques and ideas with your students. You will read, write, share and publish like real authors. Also, you will explore theories and current research in best practices for teaching writing.

Social Networking ~ Target Audience-Middle & High Educators

Are you looking for new and fun ways to infuse technology into your students' work? Do you wish you had inexpensive or free ways to make your class exciting? This dynamic workshop will provide valuable lesson plan ideas for using communicative and collaborative techniques in the classroom.
